Greyston and WJCS Collaborate to Enhance Success in its Open Hiring Employment Model

Greyston and Westchester Jewish Community Services are announcing an alliance that will utilize the resources and expertise of each organization to support the staff at Greyston Bakery. Greyston Bakery's unique Open Hiring model provides training and jobs to individuals with obstacles to employment, "no questions asked." Many of Greyston's employees face social and economic barriers that make it difficult to maintain jobs and achieve workplace success. WJCS will provide an on-site Senior Case Manager to offer and/or link Greyston employees with needed resources to help them succeed in the workplace and at home.

This is a first step in a long-term relationship that will enhance Open Hiring at Greyston, integrating employment and necessary social services, and ultimately enabling community members to escape poverty through self-sufficiency. Open Hiring has successfully changed the lives of hundreds of Yonkers community members over the past 32 years, and the additional support will facilitate community empowerment. The Senior Case Manager will provide individualized case work (assessments, referrals and follow-up) to all employees and apprentices as they transition to full-time employment.

Located in the heart of Yonkers and reaching more than 5,000 community members annually through its programs, Greyston is a national model for comprehensive community development and is best known for the Greyston Bakery which has provided jobs and opportunities for hundreds of individuals and is the primary producer of brownies for Ben & Jerry's ice cream. Greyston is an integrated network of programs that provide jobs, workforce development, childcare, housing, after-school programs and community gardens. Westchester Jewish Community Services, founded in 1943, is one of the largest human service agencies in Westchester, providing care to 20,000 people of all ages and diverse backgrounds annually who are confronting significant challenges.
