

MAKING A POINT

Business and professional leaders from around Westchester County came together to celebrate Hanukkah and learn about the work of the UJA-Federation of New York during the Westchester Business and Professional Division's Hanukkah reception at the Renaissance Westchester Hotel in Harrison. As part of its ongoing relationship with the POINT (Pursuing Our Independence Together) community, the Division invited POINT members to celebrate the holiday and to join them in providing gifts for kids in need. The POINT Program, an initiative of Westchester Jewish Community Services (WJCS) and the Jewish Child Care Association (JCCA), serves young adults with developmental and learning disabilities who live independently in the downtown White Plains area.
